CZAR CALLS ANOTHER PEACE CONFERENCE

It Will Be Another Hague Tribunal-Details Not Issued.

Negotiations Entered Into with the United States With Great Secrecy.

INTERNATIONAL INTEREST FELT

St. Petersburg, Sept. 19 .- Emperor Nicholas yesterday again appears before the world as a promoter of universal peace. No sooner is the Russo-Japanese war over and even before the peace treaty has been ratifled than his majesty issues invitations to a second peace conference at

That the emperor has done so was

It is officially announced that "the dress the foreign powers with a view ham branch. to the holding of a peace conference at The Hague," but it is known that negotiations preceding this announcement that the government proposed to address the powers were entered into espcially with the United States, and were conducted with the greatest secrecy, there being not the slightest inkling that Russia contemplated anything of the kind.

The announcement created the greatest surprise here and the fact that Russia had planned a second conference despite the steps already taken by President Roosevelt was also heard with amazement. It is clear that the step could not be taken by Russia without first reaching a complete understanding with President that the news even of the intervention of the Russian government would not be given out unless invipowers and possibly that their answers had been received.

Washington, Sept. 19 .- At the controller's office it was announced that the Western National bank, of Louisville, probably will resume business early in October, all embarrassing obstacles to resumption having been cleared away.

The following formal statement was given out for publication:
"Mr. T. L. Jefferson, late president of the Western National bank, of Louisville, with Mr. John B. Baskin, his attorney, and Mr. Thomas M. Thornton, receiver of the Western National bank, of Louisville, today presented to the controller of the currency their plan for the rehabilitation of that bank.

"After careful investigation, the controller found that an assessment of eighty-three and one-third per cent. on the share-holders would completely restore the capital of the bank and stated that when the sum of $250,000 is paid to the receiver for a purpose the bank will be permitted to resume business.

"It is confidently expected that the money will be paid and the bank reopened in its new banking house, corner of Market and Third streets, about the first of October.'

President Roosevelt is a states man who stands for all that is fair and just, and is not afraid to show his colors. Governor Hanly, of Indiana, is another. In regard to the dismissal of the state auditor, Gov. Hanly gave utterance to the following sentiments:

"The law of Indiana was violated have never heard of it. by the auditor of state. And those who know Gov. Hanly what he says.

If the principle thus enunciated by Indiana's governor were enforced everywhere, the people would get much better public service.

Personal friendship too often stands in the way of official duty.

ALL SPITE WORK.

The attitude of the council in the Jefferson street and Kentucky avenue improvements smacks very much of petty spite towards the board of works. It is a well known fact that whatever the board of works favors certain members of the legislative boards oppose no matter what the merits of the case may be.

In this street improvement affair the order to proceed with the work leaves the general public in the helpless predicament of having the streets torn up in rainy, muddy weather, perhaps leaving them a loblolly for days and weeks at a time, and with having the bitulithic material laid in cool or cold weather which will make a bad thoroughfare as on Broadway, and result in much trouble and expense to both public, property owners and contractors. There are a good many small things done by our legislative bodies, but nothing seems too small for the council to do.

Judge Alton B. Parker, late la mented candidate for president of the United States, is quoted as denouncing the life insurance companies and other corporations that contributed to the Republican campaign fund. Judge Parker is certainly absurdly unreasonable to suppose that political campaigns can be waged without funds, or that campaign funds can be created without some one contributing to them. He is also ery much mistaken if he thinks campaign funds defeated him. The people of the United States defeated him, and all the money in the country could not have elected him, or defeated President Roosevelt. Our friends, the Democrats, may rail at campaign contributions as much as they like, but they were never known to turn one down, and probably never will be known to do it. As long as the Republican party stands for a sound, sane, stable government and s opposed to the visionary theories of Democracy, it will be the choice of the American people, and in its campaigns for supremacy will find the hand of every big institution in the land ready to help it.

Gov. Hoch, of Kansas, has met his Waterloo. Seeking in vain to find something else to do the other day, he decided to stop a "wild west" show, and issued orders accordingly. The district attorney reported that there was no law against it, and was promptly ordered to stretch whatever law there was. Then the attorney sent word back that there was nothing doing in the rubber line-and the law was not stretched and wild west show continues to exhilarate its usual spectators. Some governors have very little power, after

A crusade has been started by some of the eastern journals against will probably prove as harmless as some of the medicines themselves are. Unless a nostrum is harmful, if people who imagine something is the matter with them imagine the medicine is doing them good, where's the injury? The Republicans of Paducah and McCracken county should begin to ty offices. Have you met Payne? This is the question going the rounds just now. The great advertisage who has ever visited this city. Miss Mayine Townsend will The remedies he is disposing of at the Smith & Nagle drug store, corner takes a place in the ready-made suit Fourth and Broadway, where he is making his headquarters, are going Mrs. George Reeves and children, at a rapid rate. People have heard so much about the remedies that they are anxious to secure them while the opportunity is ripe. Payne's most liberal offer of allowing everybody to obtain his medicines on trial is greatly appreciated and already the remedies can be found in a great number have returned from visiting at Bard- of homes in this city. Everybody should see Payne and talk to him Mr. J. S. Lee and Mr. L. M. Ste- about their ailments. Payne only rephon left for Louisville this morning mains here about two weeks, so all who desire to see him and secure his most wonderful remedies should lose no time about it. He is at his head-

To a reporter Payne said: "I have given in the past public demonstrations of the power of my remedies to turned from a visit to her parents in remove in less than three minutes deafness of years' standing or paralysis of limbs or face. This sounds impossible, of course, but it remains to be seen whether I can accomplish this or not. My main preparation is for the removal of stomach trouble, catarrh and rheumatism.

"I will gladly talk with callers who wish to see me at the Smith & Nagle drug store between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. Either myself or assistants will see all who call and will explain the nature of my remedies to them in person. All medicine I sell is on trial and may be returned to me tion to swear all persons delivering at any time and the prices will be immediately refunded.

Payne seems to be much in earnest and if he is able to do half what is claimed for him, his work must be very unusual and he is certainly entitled to as much success here as he has had elsewhere. "God bless Mr. Payne" is heard from relieved sufferers through the country and Payne expects the same benediction from local sufferers before he leaves

No. 1 of the Series (Continued from yesterday,)

"I know the shop," he whispered, "because I've got a few things there. I know this upper part too. It's been to let for a month, and I got an order to view and took a cast of the key before using it. The one thing I don't know is how to make a connection between the two. At present there's none. We may make it up here, though I rather fancy the basement myself. If you wait a minute I'll tell you."

He set his lantern on the floor, crep to a back window and opened it with scarcely a sound, only to return, shaking his head, after shutting the window with the same care.

"That was our one chance," said he, "a back window above a back window, but it's too dark to see anything. and we daren't show an outside light Come down after me to the basement and remember, though there's not a soul on the premises, you can't make too little noise. There-there-listen to

It was the measured tread that we had heard before on the flagstones outside. Raffles darkened his lantern, and again we stood motionless till it had watch ticking in my pocket and ever when anybody was approaching and

"Either a policeman," he muttered "or a watchman that all these jewelers run between them. The watchman's the man for us to watch. He's simply paid to spot this kind of thing."

We crept very gingerly down the stairs, which creaked a bit in spite of us, and we picked up our shoes in the passage; then down some narrow stone steps, at the foot of which Ruffles showed his light and put on his shoe once more, bidding me do the same in a rather louder tone than be had permitted himself to employ overhead. We were now considerably below the level of the street in a small space with as many doors as it had sides Three were ajar, and we saw through them into empty cellars, but in the drawn, and this one presently let us ble." out into the bottom of a deep, square well of fog A similar door faced it how do you mean to tackle this thing?" and up into the lobby where Raffles

"Door No. 1," he whispered. "Deuce knows how many more there'll be, but have to make much noise over them and yet there was something very tory, too, and we must have a wash either. Down here there's less risk."

Now I was to take which we had just descended, the yard, or well, being the one part common to both the private and the business premises. But this flight led to no premises. But this flight led to no open passage. Instead a singularly solid mahogany door confronted us at the top.

"I thought so," muttered Raffles banding me the lantern and pocketing a bunch of skeleton keys after tampering for a few minutes with the lock. "It'll be an hour's work to get through

"Can't you pick it?"
"No. I know these locks. It's no use trying. We must cut it out, and it'll take us an hour."

It took us forty-seven minutes by my watch, or, rather, it took Raffles and never in my life have I seen any thing more leliberately done. My part will cure any ordinary case of Kidwas simply to stand by with the dark lantern in one hand and a small bottle of rock oil in the other. Raffles had produced a pretty embroidered case, intended obviously for his razors, but filled instead with the tools of his secret trade, including the rock oil. From this case he selected a bit capable of drilling a hole an inch in by McPherson's Drug store, Fourts diameter and fitted it to a small but and Broadway, sole agent for Padu bind the iron curtain, a bottle of wine very strong steel brace. Then he took off his covert coat and his blazer, spread them neatly on the top step, knelt on them, turned up his shirt ville, Ky. cuffs and went to work with brace and bit near the keyhole. But first he oiled the bit to minimize the noise, and this he did invariably before beginning a fresh hole and often in the middle of one. It took thirty-two separate borings to cut round that lock. I noticed that through the first circular orifice Raffles thrust a forefinger; then as the circle became an ever lengthening oval he got his hand through up to the thumb, and I heard him swear softly to himself.

"I was afraid so!" "What is it?"

"An iron gate on the other side!" "How on earth are we to get through that?" I asked in dismay. "Pick the lock. But there may be two. In that case they'll be top and bottom, and we shall have two fresh holes to make, as the door opens in-

Here two electric lights were left burning all night long, and in their cold white rays I could at first see nothing amiss. I looked along an orderly lane, an empty glass counter on my left, glass cupboards of untouched silver on my right and, facing me, the filmy black eye of the peephole that shone like a stage moon on the street. The counter had not been emptied by Raffles. Its contents were in the Chubb's safe, which he had given up at a glance. Nor had he looked at the silver, except to choose a cigarette case for me. He had confined himself entirely to the shop window. This was in three compartments, each secured for the night by removable panels with separate locks. Raffies had removed them a few hours before Gravel, cures Diabetes. BEAUTIFUL GIRL

Miss Alice Elenor Willis Succumbs After 9 Weeks Illness.

Mrs. A. L. Kennedy Dead Near Metropolis-Other Metropolis Matters of General Interest.

METROPOLIS' FANS JUBILANT atives.

Metropolis, Ill., Sept. 19 .- After an illness of nine weeks, every one of which was filled with the most terrible suffering, Miss Alice Elenor ter Willis, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Willis, died Sunday evening at 5:15 o'clock. Miss Willis, Evers' family. some two months ago contracted a severe cold which terminated in muscular rheumatism of the severest type. Since then her sufferings had ducah. been almost unbearable, but with a fortitude characteristic, she bore without doubt the most popular of the streets and in the business houses attest to that fact. She was born August 24, 1885, grew up in this city and was graduated from the High school with the class of 1902. As a member of society, none outshone her; blessed with extreme beauty and a disposition as sweet, gentle and loving as a child's, she naturally drew around her a host of true and loyal friends, both here and was the simplest matter in the world to elsewhere, to whom the news of her stand peeping through the laths into death brings inexpressible sorrow. she was voted the prettiest and most popular young lady and reigned as queen of the festivities. In Paducah, where she frequently visited, she has many acquaintances and friends. Bebrothers and many relatives, all of whom are the city's best citizens. Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow (Wednesday) at the home on Metropolis and Second streets, by ton, Ky. Rev. Mrs. A. L. Kennedy died at her home near town Sunday, after an illness lasting four and one-half months. Mrs. Kennedy's maiden name was Hart. She was about 45 years old and a native of Kentucky: a sweet-faced, modest and kindly woman whose presecnce will be sadly missed by family and friends. Mrs. Kennedy leaves besides her huslast hours. She was a member of the July Methodist church. Funeral services were held this afternoon by Rev. D. W. Hopkins, after which the re-

Buying and Selling for Cash Is the only method by which High Grade Clothing can be sold at

POPULAR PRICES

By going direct to the manufacturer with SPOT CASH we get the best possible price. By selling to our customers for SPOT CASH we avoid any losses. When we price our goods at the popular prices of $7.50, $10.00 and $12.50 we figure to a cent what our profit will be in cash. By our cash methods we do not have to add from $2.50 to $5.00 per suit to cover possible losses which must be done by houses doing a credit business. DID YOU ever notice that when CREDIT HOUSES have their cut price sales and put their goods down to our all the time prices they always advertise them for CASH ONLY? Isn't that proof that High Grade Clothing can be sold at our popular prices if the loss due to a credit business is cut out?

IT IS UP TO YOU

. As to whether you will pay $12.50, $15.00 or $20.00 for your winter suit at houses where you have to help pay for their losses or buy the same quality of us at $7.50, $10.00 or $12.50---prices that pay us a legitimate profit, because there is no loss from people who don't pay their bills.

Isn't the saving of $2.50 to $5.00 worth coming here to investigate?
